(original>Long)

Ag Clutch has two variations of clutch covers available to replace the original "Long" style used in some applications. The clutch covers may vary slightly in appearance. For example the lever and spring arrangement, however these covers are completely interchangeable without the need for any special modification.

The Lipe Rollway style shown is now commonly used in all the later models, and is recommended as an upgrade to the original. It incorporates lever "roller bearings" for longer life and reduced pedal effort, whilst utilizing the cover to provide higher clamp load for increased security against slippage.
